An Essay on the Tooth Ache. man with the toothache is absolutely par-No matter what the exigency, you cannot attend to it with the toothache. You can't eat of course. We have not eaten for three days-what we call eating. Of course you can't sing-and this reminds us of a good story we heard on our friend F, the other day. As everybody knows, F. (who is a very eccentric man) is devoted to vocal music. It is a perfect passion with him. A gentleman was walking out in Wills. Meadow the other day, and he saw Fastanding on the margin of the branch gazing listently to all appearance at something in the water. He stood there so tions guaranteed, and charges moderate. [oc 7 long that the gentleman advanced towards him. But F. did not move. The gentleman called him. He beckoned to him to be silent. The gentleman moved up to him on tiptoe with suspended breath, and F. pointed to the water. "What is the matter?" said the gentleman, "Don't you hear that frog?" says F. in a suppressed whisper—"it is the finest tenor I ever heard in my life!" he wold treated

Well to return; that free did not have the toothache. A mocking-bird couldn't sing with the toothache. By the rivers of Babylon the captive Jews bung their harps on the willows, and could not sing because they had the heartache and the heartache is about as sufferable as the toothache.

As to writing editorials on the Tight Fit in the Senate of the United States in this Impeachment business, with a violent cold in three or four of your front teeth, Socrates couldn't do it. We have heard of the case of a young man who was suffering very much with the toothache, and nothing would give him any relief. His sweetheart was so moved at his pitiable condition that she offered to kiss him (she had steadily refused always before). He told her he didn't care about it—that he was miserable! Nothing could more powerfully illustrate the terrible energy of this little tor-

Men who are free from pain do not reflect on the happiness of their situation, "Did you ever thank God for your reason, sir?" was the startling question with which a lunatic stopped a man whom he met on the street of a city.—
The stranger said he had not, "Well, you had better go and do it then," said the lunatic— "for I have lost minel"

There is a fellow in perfect health :-he can eat what he pleases; sleeps like a top; has the lungs of a race-horse; never had the headache, the earache, the toothache, or the stomach-ache. He has a good house, a good business; and pretty good sense. Wet he is always complaining; fancies himself on the whole very badly used-doesn't wonder Jones committed suicide.

That fellow wants the toothache. The toothache would sober him. Give him the toothache for about three days—say a week—and he will wonder how any man can fail to be happy if he is just free from pain, And when the demon is cast out of his tooth, and the pulses beat healthily again, freedom from pain fills him with enjoyment. The sky, the trees, the water, the fields, the city, the people, the cattle, the dog-everything is beautiful-surpassingly beautiful.

Now for his sweethsart—in the case of the unmarried man-let her offer to kiss him now Just try him! - Charlotsville Chronicle.

WORK .- Social evils of various sorts are loudly demanding a remedy, and this remedy cate system, and can Always be used with is sought in all places but the right place. -There is one remedy-and that is-good, honest, thorough, intelligent and continuous work -work of the brain and work of the hands, work that seeks all practical methods of doing all things which need to be done in the very best who give it their unanimous and unqualified way in which they can be done.

Let us look at the "young gentleman" of this period—at the model which multitudes of lads have before them, and which they seek to imitate. Art has done much for him. But it is artful, not genuine art. It is the barber's art, the tailor's art, the boot maker's art, the dancing master's art, the black guards art, often the art of the bawdy house. This young gentleman of this period has a brain, we suppose. But it conceives no honest work. It has some vigor, and it is not utterly idle. It is not aimless. It has one great overshadowing aim, desire, end-namely - bow to avoid work-how to gratify the most unworthy personal passions and longings with the least personal exertion. A more useless being cannot be imagined. A more dangerous person in a community can scarcely be found. a Against an open, disreputable man you can be on your guard. Not so with this "gentleman." He appears well. He moves gracefully. He is gorgeously apparelled. One of Solomon's lilies would bear no comparison with him. And he is not without knowledge and culture. But it is the knowledge and culture of everything that is unworthy.

It is because so large a number of young men follow such a model, and harbor in their hearts like aims and purposes, that thousands of young men are going down to drunkenness, debauchery and death, daily lot of the month of all of the month of the closely That good, honest work is the panacea for

YOUNG MEN, Especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an ultimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to estacy the living lyre, may call with full

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety .-Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Processing Pr Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death. DR. JOHNSON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent, in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. MENTALLY .- The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Averson to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced: Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN, Who have injured themselves by a cer tain practice, indulged in, a habit fre quently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE. reflect that a sound mind and body are the mosnecessary requisites to promote connubial hap-Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prosp-ct hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.
